1. Project Status

For a long time, the project's been in requirement gathering stage. Then, in October 2004, Dallas eventually shipped a DS9490 1-Wire® USB adapter sample, which currently is not supported anywhere but on Windows. This pushed the development forward, and currently the framework is being implemented.

As soon as it is usable, it will replace the original 1-Wire® API currently used by The DIY Zoning Project.
